

Stop and See

Put your life on pause,
Get up, go outside
Go on, don't try to hide,
Admire all the world's flaws,
Cherish the beauty,
See the clouds that seem gloomy?
Even they look pretty.
Let the earth be your guide,
Watch the birds fly by,
High, high in the sky,
Smell the air as it's about to rain,
Let all the thoughts go down the drain.
As the sun sets, watch the blue and purple-pink skies,
And stray away from all the lies.
In another universe,
We'll all get along,
But never sing the same song.
We'll play different notes, but it all ends in harmony.
